

DALY CITY BOASTS
PUREST AND BEST
WATER IN THE STATE

Twenty years ago the land on which Daly City is now built was covered by vegetable patches and cow pastures. Today a modern city, with wonderful improvements and numerous advantages and a population of nearly 9,000 is found in this territory. Daly City ranks with the most up-to-date and progressive municipalities in the county, and can point to a steady growth and substantial progress excelled by none.

One of the outstanding features of our local municipal development has been the construction of first class street paving and sidewalks, and of this work all residents are justly proud. More than 90 per cent of the street work in the city is completed. There is no modern convenience of city life which may not be enjoyed in Daly City. Gas and electricity for heating, cooking and lighting, prompt telephone service and excellent street car connections with San Francisco and San Mateo county are among the numerous advantages which may be claimed by the popular neighbor municipality of the great metropolis of the West.

The water system of Daly City has always been the pride and boast of local officials and residents. This high pressure system, which is owned and operated by the city, furnishes the purest water on earth, pumped out of deep wells. The water is supplied to the various homes at low rates, and the system is constantly kept in first class order by a staff of well trained and efficient engineers. Under the chairmanship of Trustee T. P. Moran the water committee has operated this important department to the entire satisfaction of all consumers, and the system has been brought to a condition of 100 per cent efficiency.

Mention should also be made of the first class fire fighting system. The existence of this system not only affords property owners protection against fire and destruction, but also provides low insurance rates. Five well organized fire companies stand ready at all times to work for the safety of Daly City people.

The schools of Daly City have recently been mentioned in these columns. It will suffice to say that within our city limits there are four grammar schools and one entirely modern and commodious high school. The latter organization has excellent accommodation for recreation and sports of all kinds.

Business houses of all varieties have been established in the city within recent years, and are meeting the needs of the population at reasonable prices.

Health statistical reports for this community have been presented within recent years in a most favorable light, and the highest praise must be given to the officers of the city for their efforts to the building of a city, which has been demonstrated and is well known throughout the state as a "good place to live."

In conclusion, it must be said that the present prosperous condition of the city is due to the diligent and efficient work of the five members of the Board of Trustees, who have devoted their efforts to the building of a city, which has been demonstrated and is well known throughout the state as a "good place to live."

VETERAN FIREMEN SHOW
GROWTH IN MEMBER

The Veteran Firemen's Association was only recently organized, and is now very nicely and has attracted fifty-three paid up members. The association is organized for mutual aid and to keep alive the spirit of brotherhood which existed among the firemen of the first fire company was created in 1851. Some of the men who served in the fire service today, and are members of the association. In fact many of the men served as a volunteer fireman five years within the present boundaries of Daly City is eligible for membership. The meeting is held every Friday of the month. The assembly room of the City Hall was turned over to the firemen by the trustees until such time that they can be able to meet at their own hall.

The officers are: President, F. A. Jones; First Vice-President, Wm. Jones; Second Vice-President, A. J. Jones; Secretary, E. J. Ford; Treasurer, Marshall, H. W. A. Jones; Historian, F. W. Schmidt; Directors, H. F. Secor, A. J. Bodien, Kennedy, Dr. R. R. Castle, F. W. Jones.

ASSOCIATED FIREMEN MEET IN BURLINGAME

Last Tuesday the Associated Firemen of San Mateo County held a most successful smoker and jinks in the Masonic Hall, Burlingame. After a few opening remarks the chairman introduced the following speakers: Chief Radford, president of the California State Fireman's Association; Chief Kennedy of Daly City; Chief Dessen of Burlingame; Gus Mangusen, ex-captain of the San Bruno Fire Department; Captain Rappese of the San Bruno Fire Department.

Entertainment was furnished by Messrs. Schade, Phillips and Steinbruck, vocal trio; Mr. George Wright, vocal solo; Messrs. Keller and Schmidt, banjo duo; Mr. William Schade, vocal solo; Messrs. Keller and Schmidt, Hawaiian music; Mr. Browie, comedian; Messrs. Schade, Phillips and Steinbruck, vocal trio.

After the fine acts the meeting adjourned to the banquet room, where an excellent repast had been prepared. The entertainment committee was the advisory board, consisting of Philip Ross, chairman; N. Nasits, W. Emerick, P. Clark, Captain Foppiano and G. Lees.

The next meeting of the Associated Firemen of San Mateo County will be held Tuesday, April 20, in the City Hall, South San Francisco. The nomination and election of officers will be held at this time. All members are requested to attend.

EAGLES PREPARING FOR NEXT STATE CONVENTION

The members of the Colma-Vista Grande Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles' drum corps, are working hard in preparation for the state convention of Eagles, which is to be held in Yosemite Valley, from June 7 to 14, inclusive. The drum corps of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Daly City has the honor of having won more prizes and trophies for competitive drilling than any other Eagle drum corps in the state of California, and at present are in possession of the championship cup, which they hope to claim permanently after this convention.

The drum corps wishes to thank the people of Daly City for the interest they have taken in making their festivals, picnics and dance time. And as a progressive a lot more of the Eagles' drum corps is needed, and at all times to be read besides. Then, movement to be over but digging down aggressive citizens for the purchase price of the drum.

The desire, maybe you wonder why the Fraternal Order of Eagles is so much interested in the drum corps. It is a safe policy to test out the wheel alignment of your car every so often. You may find something that will save you money.—Farm Life.

Magneto Setting Vital to Obtain Best Results

When setting a high-tension magneto it should first be seen that the proper cylinder is in firing position; that is, both valves closed and the piston brought up to the highest point, which can be ascertained by running a rod or wire through the spark plug or petcock opening.

When this point is reached the motor should be backed up one-eighth of a stroke, which is where the spark should occur when the spark lever is fully advanced. If it is desired to throttle the motor down very low, the spark plug points should be opened until they are fully one-sixteenth of an inch apart.

ON WASHINGTON STREETS

Mr. and Mrs. Matzek and Miss Matzek, of San Francisco, were married last Sunday by Father Bedford of St. Ann's church, San Francisco. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matzek, of San Jose, were present. Mr. G. Matzek has been employed for a number of years by H. H. Smith, local lumber dealer and our mayor. The couple will make their home on Twenty-first street, San Francisco.

These are a few of the 1926 fiction placed on the shelves of the John D. Daly Library last week.

RE-ELECTION IS SOUGHT BY TRUSTEES WITH FINE RECORD
FOR WELFARE OF DALY CITY

Four years ago this month a municipal election of unusual interest was conducted in this city, and three candidates for the position of City Trustee were carried into office on the crest of a wave of public enthusiasm which had never been equalled in local municipal affairs.

The three successful candidates had previously enjoyed the confidence of Daly City people, and had held public office for several years.

The voters expressed their approval of the public life and official acts of these trustees by a record poll. The record established by Messrs T. P. Moran, T. F. O'Rourke and H. H. Smith has confirmed the judgment of the people and ratified their decision at the polls.

Following the election of 1922, a reorganization of the Board of Trustees took place, and the newly elected members proceeded to build up an efficient and harmonious organization, which was still further strengthened and stabilized at the election of 1924, when Mr. Henry Sundermann was returned to office, and Mr. Arthur J. Bodien was elected.

Since April 1924, the Board of Trustees has worked as a unit for the welfare of Daly City. The utmost in harmony and co-operation has been attained, and the trustees have conducted the city's affairs honestly, earnestly and conscientiously. In every respect they have fulfilled the trust reposed in them.

During their administration remarkable progress has been witnessed in Daly City, and many civic development enterprises have been successfully completed. Street paving, better lighting, water system improvements, territorial expansion have all been included in the fine progressive program devised and successfully carried through by the most progressive and united Board of Trustees which has met in our City Hall.

This splendid era of civic progress has been marked by wonderful economy, and the sound business judgment of the men elected to the people has been demonstrated in all of the transactions of the board. As a result of this

Daly City stands today in a more sound and satisfactory financial condition than ever. The interests of the taxpayers have been carefully guarded in connection with the forward movements inaugurated by the board.

Next Monday, April 12th, three members of the Board of Trustees will retire from office—Messrs. T. P. Moran, O'Rourke and H. H. Smith. They are presenting themselves to the people of Daly City for re-election on their record in office and their merit, and will ask the voters to express approval of their service at the polls.

The three candidates need no introduction to the voters of Daly City; their names are household words, and even new residents in our city have been made aware of the strict honesty and superior business ability of these men who have grown up with the city and raised their families here.

As a result of their efforts Daly City has been brought right in line with the most progressive and prosperous small cities in the state, and all who desire the continuance of development and the maintenance of complete civic harmony are requested to return these men to office next Monday.

Careful investigation will reveal the fact that no city in the country can point to a finer record than that which has been established by the efficient trustees, who represent the taxpayers at the City Hall.

DALY CITY PIONEER PASSES
AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS

Funeral services were held Wednesday for the late Martin Christen, prominent resident of Daly City, who passed away last Monday after a brief illness. Requiem services were held in St. Maximus church.

Martin Christen was a native of Switzerland and was 46 years old at the time of his death. He was active in fraternal and social circles of Daly City, and was a member of the Colma-Vista Grande Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles. He was also a member of the Helvetia Verien. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Celestine Christen; a daughter, Freda, and four sons, Martin, Jr., Herman, Adolph and Rudolph.

Mr. Christen conducted a grocery store at Bellevue and Templeton, and was a pioneer in Daly City. Services were held Tuesday evening at his home by the Colma-Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

DUMBARTON BRIDGE
PLANS ARE REVISED

At the meeting of the board of supervisors at Redwood City last Monday, a communication from the Dumbarton Bridge Company enclosing a revised and more complete set of plans and specifications, requesting the board's approval, met with favorable action and were ordered filed with the county clerk.

It was pointed out in the communication from the bridge company that the revised plans and specifications fully complied with all the terms of the franchise granted the bridge company.

The supervisors approved the plans and specifications on motion of Supervisor Rosalie Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis, and the county clerk was instructed to endorse the board's approval on all sheets of the plans and specifications.

The milk inspector in his monthly report noted that there are numerous violations of the state dairy law in this county. He pointed out that many people were returning uncleaned milk containers and that many restaurants and public eating places were not living up to the provisions of the law which requires that each customer be served with an individual milk container. The milk inspector said that this particular provision of the law was most frequently violated in the county.

When applications for permits to conduct soft drink establishments under the new county law came up the request of the TNT dance hall at Menlo Park was held up, and the owner of the property ordered to revoke the lease.

STREET SWEEPER WILL KEEP THE CITY CLEAN

Considerable attention has been given recently by the street committee of the Daly City Board of Trustees, under the chairmanship of Trustee T. F. O'Rourke, to the problem of street cleanliness, and it is proposed that a motor street sweeper be purchased by the city.

This excellent move will mean that the streets of Daly City will be kept in a condition which will command the admiration and excite the favorable comment of all visitors. The earnest co-operation of all residents is invited in this effort on the part of the Board of Trustees to make our city more healthful and pleasant.

Attention has been called to the fact that drivers of milk wagons have frequently dropped milk bottles on the pavements with the result that broken glass has been left on our thoroughfares. In some cases the drivers have only stopped long enough to kick the fragments into the gutter, but others have been seen to keep moving without any effort to dispose of the ruined bottles. Such action has often resulted disastrously to the drivers of automobiles.

In the campaign for clean streets and a clean city, the trustees request the co-operation of all the property owners and residents. Parents are urged to advise their children to refrain from the habit of throwing cans or refuse on the streets. Such conduct involves infringement of city regulations and should be reported to the marshal or the superintendent of sanitation.

It is the ambition of the present Board of Trustees to make Daly City clean and inviting in every respect, and they feel that, with the assistance of all who are interested in the welfare and progress of the city, this object will be accomplished.

DE MOLAY CHAPTER
FORMED IN THIS CITY

Last Saturday evening at the Jefferson Union high school auditorium, Crocker Chapter, Order of De Molay, was instituted, a large crowd being in attendance.

Jesse M. Whited, Grand Marshal of the Grand Council, Order of De Molay, delivered a most interesting address on the growth of the order, its aims and purposes, and Rev. Chas. H. Gatchell, of Grace Presbyterian church made an interesting talk, interspersed with humorous incidents.

After the ceremonies at the high school auditorium, initiation was held at Masonic Hall, thirty-two members being initiated and five coming in from other chapters, the initiatory ceremonies being performed by Peninsula Chapter of San Mateo.

Following the initiation ceremonies a banquet was served at the City Hall, about 150 being seated at the banquet tables.

George E. Archer was chairman of the advisory council which succeeded in instituting the new Chapter of the Order of De Molay. A great deal of work was necessary, but the results will no doubt compensate him for his efforts.

STREET CAR SWITCH
REMOVAL CONSIDERED
BY CITY TRUSTEES

The approaching completion of the Hillside boulevard leading from Mission road opposite Los Banos and Los Olivos avenues has brought into consideration the present switching operations of the cars of the Market Street Railway.

At a meeting of the street committee of Daly City and the Highway Commission it was suggested that the operation of traffic on Mission street would be facilitated if the switchback point were removed to some less congested point on that thoroughfare.

In line with this recognized policy the City Trustees are working for the benefit of the city, and are taking this problem under advisement. Various propositions have been submitted in this connection, and will be given due consideration.

It is announced that the board proposes to eliminate the dangerous conditions which may arise, and to make provision for the switching of the Daly City cars at a point where the hazard will be reduced to a minimum.

It is not possible at this time to state definitely the proposed location of the new switch, but the property owners of Daly City may be sure that their interests will be guarded in the action which the board will take to remedy a condition which has been already regarded as dangerous by several public spirited citizens of this community.

DALY CITY SCHEME
SETS EXAMPLE FOR BIG NEIGHBOR CITY

Attention has been called frequently to the dissatisfaction caused in San Francisco by the operations made necessary for the installation of gas and sewer connections. Pavements have been wrecked and sidewalks torn up to the annoyance and inconvenience of many property owners. In our own municipality this trouble has been avoided by the foresight and wisdom of the men who have regulated our civic affairs.

During recent years many improvements have been effected in Daly City. Street paving work has been completed at reasonable cost, new streets have been opened, and under the progressive policy of the present Board of Trustees the city has been brought into the limelight of public attention as one of the most wide-awake and active municipalities in the county.

In connection with a comprehensive scheme of street paving undertaken by the present board, mechanical arrangements were made whereby the tearing up of pavements was rendered unnecessary, and all new sewer and gas service connections may be made without any disturbance of existing conditions.

There are not many cities in the country which can point to a similar convenient arrangement, and the present Board of Trustees is to be heartily congratulated upon the fruition of this scheme which represents a great saving of time and labor and cost to the property owners of the city. This feature alone constitutes a hearty invitation to home-seekers to settle in Daly City, the "good place to live."

CITY CLERK B. C. ROSS
IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR CITY TRUSTEE

To eliminate any possible misunderstanding and to avoid confusion it may be well to point out that City Clerk Berton C. Ross is not a candidate for the office of City Trustee at the election to be held here next Monday.

Due to similarity of names, an impression may have been given in some quarters that our popular city clerk was seeking a seat on the board. This statement is made to correct such and impression. City Clerk Ross was elected to his present office and his term does not expire until 1928.

DALY CITY MAN DROPS DEAD

Edward Winshire dropped dead Monday evening on his return from work, at the entrance to his home at 76 Risel avenue, Daly City. The verdict given by the coroner's jury at the inquest on Wednesday was that "death was due to aneurism of the heart." The deceased was a Spanish-American war veteran, having served with Company L, Ninth Infantry, New York City. He leaves his wife, Mrs. K. Winshire. The funeral was held Thursday from the chapel of W. C. Lasswell & Co., funeral directors. Interment was in the National cemetery, Presidio, with full military honors.

VAST SUMS EXPENDED ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS

During the week of April 26-May 1 the general public will have an excellent chance to hear discussed by speakers of national prominence some of the problems which are at present agitating the educational world. This is the week set aside by the Masons all over California to acquaint the people of this state with the real condition of its public schools.

With more money invested in public schools than any other public utility, with more money being spent on upkeep and overhead than in any other public or private business in the state of California, there is probably less active participation on the part of the public in the management of this great business than on the part of the stockholders of any other corporation in existence.

Some idea of the immensity of the state's educational plants may be gained by glancing over the figures compiled by A. R. Heron in the Public School Catechism. California's total investment in school property is $284,000,000; about $113,000,000 in elementary schools. In the school year 1924-1925 we spent for kindergarten, elementary and high schools: For operating expenses alone, $85,000,000; for new buildings, sites, etc., (including money from sales of bonds) $36,000,000. This means that our total bill amounted to $121,000,000, or about 20 per cent of all taxes collected. Putting it another way, if everybody in the whole United States chipped in a dollar apiece, that could just pay the school bill in California for one year.

Is the expenditure of these vast sums justified? Are the public getting their money back dollar for dollar in better and more efficient boys and girls? The school people say they are; some of the parents, along with a large block of the more or less disinterested public, say they are not. Who knows? Will our taxes for schools keep on increasing? How can we prevent it?

These are some of the vital questions which will be thoroughly aired by competent speakers during Public Schools week.

FORMER SERVICE MEN PAYING BACK LOANS

Payments made by former service men given aid under the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act have met bond redemption and interest charges to date totaling nearly one million dollars, State Treasurer Chas. G. Johnson announced Monday.

A total of $561,743.33 has been set aside from the veterans' monthly payments to cover interest charges, the treasurer said, and $419,000 has been applied toward the redemption of bonds voted by the people to finance the program.

Treasurer Johnson declared that a report filed with his office by George M. Stout, secretary of the Veterans' Welfare Board, showed $9,242,484 expended in the purchase of homes for former soldiers and sailors, and $849,126.50 invested in farms. Home property has been bought for 2,014 men, the report added, and 153 veterans have been aided in buying farms.

In commenting on the administration of the veterans' welfare legislation, Treasurer Johnson said:

"The Farm and Home Purchase Act has been administered efficiently and without cost to the taxpayers. This work, which is assisting our former soldiers and sailors in adjusting themselves to civil life, should be continued.

"The $10,000,000 bond issue voted by the people several years ago has been found inadequate, and California electors should lend their wholehearted support to the new $20,000,000 issue which will appear on the November ballot. The least we can do for the men who fought for us during the World war is to extend them the state credit to this extent. Every dollar voted in bonds will be repaid by the men benefitted, and they have demonstrated that they are worthy of the trust imposed in them.

"Applications for aid are on file with the Veterans' Welfare Board from approximately 20,000 men who failed to secure assistance under the original bond issue. There is a ready market for the bonds and it is a sound investment which should have the united support of the taxpayers."

OPERATOR SAVES LIFE OF DOCTOR, SHOT BY BANDIT

When Miss Margaret Sullivan, a Lawrence, Mass., telephone operator, plugged in and said "Number, please?" on a recent evening, she did not realize that a man's life depended upon that switchboard signal and her speed in answering it. Dr. Beeley, a Lawrence physician, had been attacked by two bandits who called at his office and demanded his money. When he failed to comply with their requests, one of the gunmen shot him in the leg, severing a large artery. Despite a hemorrhage, the doctor dragged himself to the telephone, where he was just able to lift the receiver off the hook.

The telephone girl, however, did the rest. She called an ambulance and the police, and it was her speed in answering the signal that was the first factor in saving Dr. Beeley's life.

SIDELIGHTS

FACTS ABOUT THE TELEPHONE

CHILDREN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES

Many Drivers Are Careless in Residential and Outlying Districts.

Approximately 31 per cent of all persons killed by automobiles are children under fifteen years of age. Many drivers are careful on congested business streets, but careless in residential and other districts where children are numerous.

In spite of the danger, many children make the street their playground, or in chasing each other or a ball they may suddenly dash into the street right in front of a moving vehicle.

Watch Children Closely.

A driver should assume that every child on or near the street may dash suddenly in front of his car. You cannot tell by looking at a child what it is going to do. You should therefore, drive slowly and have absolute control of your car:

- Not only when children are playing in the street, but also when they are playing near the curb or on the sidewalk.
- When passing schools or playgrounds.
- When approaching youngsters who are "hitching a ride" on the vehicle ahead.
- When passing ice wagons and street sprinklers.
- When passing any hill that may be used for coasting, in winter.

Timely Suggestions.

Drivers should remember the following:

- Caution your own and other people's children about the dangers of the street.
- Do not allow anyone to ride on the running board, rear tire, or bumper of your car.
- Persons on bicycles, or roller skates, or in carts should not be permitted to hitch on your car.
- It is bad practice to give children a "lift" to and from school because it encourages them to stand in the street while waiting. Such encouragement by motorists promotes a hazard to the children and to all motorists.
- In many communities school children are being taught "safety." Automobile drivers should co-operate in this good work and take every precaution to prevent accidents to children.
- If you expect other persons to avoid injuring your children, you should take care not to injure the children of others.

Some Worry in Getting Gas Into a Vacuum Tank

Motorists who run out of gas on the road frequently have trouble in getting gas into the vacuum tank which has run dry. If the driver stalled on the road finds himself without a funnel or is unable to remove the filler plug from the vacuum tank, he need not worry. "It is unnecessary to refill a vacuum tank manually," says a bulletin issued by the mechanical first aid department of the Chicago Motor Club. "If the engine is cranked by hand or by means of the starter, suction will act upon the fuel in the main tank and refill the vacuum tank. One precaution is necessary: The throttle should be closed. If this is not done the engine will suck air through the carburetor instead of through the vacuum suction pipe."

Slow Driver Is Menace to Traffic on Highways

One of the greatest menaces to traffic on the streets, boulevards and even on country highways, is the slow driver cruising down the center of the thoroughfare.

"The Rules of the Road" require all slow-moving traffic—whether passenger automobile, truck or bus, to keep to the right near the curb. This rule is violated every day, and all the time, everywhere may be found the slow crawler, creeping down the middle of a driveway, blocking traffic and actually endangering the lives of others.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS ON WASHINGTON STREETS

In an attempt to better regulate Washington's rapidly increasing automobile traffic, experiments are now being conducted with automatic traffic signals installed at New Hampshire avenue and Eighteenth street, as shown in the photograph. Similar signals will be erected on the capitol grounds in the near future.

Did You Know That—

An engine will knock if the spark gap at the distributor is too wide?

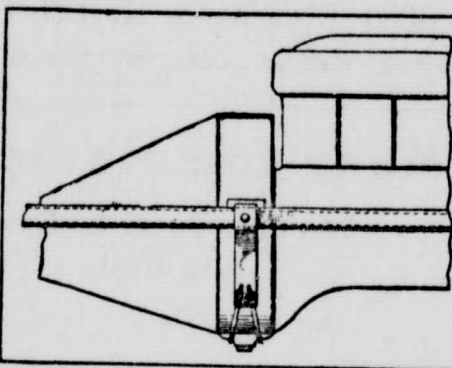

The supercharger is being manufactured by a large electrical equipment company?

Reduction in wind resistance has resulted in adding ten miles per hour in speed to one of the latest sport closed jobs?

One camshaft will operate all the valves of a V-eight engine if one block of cylinders is set slightly ahead of the other?

Support for Crank Case Quite Easily Attached

The object of an invention of F. A. Gould and W. G. Baxter of Montfort, Wis., is to provide a crank case support specially adapted for attachment to certain light cars for supporting the crank case against downward movement.

Partial Side View Crank Case, Showing Support.

ment, wherein the support is connected to the frame of the vehicle and to the supporting arms for the crank case. This support is easily attached, and once attached, requires no attention, it is firmly held by bolts and nuts.—Scientific American.

Tire Wear Doesn't Show Score on a Speedometer

You cannot tell how many miles a tire goes by the score on the speedometer.

If you'll stop and think, there is a lot of tire travel that the speedometer can't register, for instance: When you back up; when you skid with your rear wheels locked, and when you have one wheel out of line that skews along the road like a bootlegger in tow of the law.

And while on the subject of poor wheel alignment I'll wager that not a day of your existence passes but what you see some car ambling along the street or highway with a drunken wheel or two. If you have an abundant sense of humor you can easily get a laugh out of the cars so afflicted, especially if they are piloted by those absent-minded drivers who sit up stiff and straight and let the world go hang.

But it is really a serious matter—for the pocketbook, anyway. When the wheel wobbles, so does the tire. And that means that it covers a lot more territory than there is need of and scrubs off some tread besides. Then, when it is all over but digging down into your jeans for the purchase price of a new tire, maybe you wonder why you failed to get as much mileage out of one casing as from another. It is a safe policy to test out the wheel alignment of your car every so often. You may find something that will save you money.—Farm Life.

Magneto Setting Vital to Obtain Best Results

When setting a high-tension magneto it should first be seen that the proper cylinder is in firing position; that is, both valves closed and the piston brought up to the highest point, which can be ascertained by running a rod or wire through the spark plug or petcock opening.

When this point is reached the motor should be backed up one-eighth of a stroke, which is where the spark should occur when the spark lever is fully advanced. If it is desired to throttle the motor down very low, the spark plug points should be opened until they are fully one-sixteenth of an inch apart.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Several days ago E. Lee Trinkle, President, and J. A. Rountree, Director General, of the United States Good Roads association sent a cordial invitation to Governor Friend Wm. Richardson of California inviting him to attend the fourteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads association and tenth annual convention of the Bankhead National Highway association which will be held in conjunction with the United States Good Roads Show in Santa Monica, June 7 to 12. He was invited to deliver the address of welcome to the governors, distinguished guests and delegates to these conventions on the opening night of June 7th. He was also invited to head a delegation of leading men and women to meet the train, which will come over the Union Pacific, having on board a number of governors and enthusiastic delegates to these conventions. This special is expected to arrive at the California state line on the morning of June 7, where Governor Richardson will formally welcome and receive the governors in his state. Governor Richardson has accepted the invitation.

The State Board of Forestry plans to ask administration budget makers for an increase in funds for fire prevention and other forestry purposes during the 1927-1928 biennium, it was announced by board officials, who said the exact amount of the increase to be requested has not yet been decided. Governor Richardson's budget for the present biennium shows an item of $186,190 for the board, while his retrenchment budget of 1923 gave the forestry department $167,770.33.

An original copy of a treaty between white settlers and Indians, the first to come into the possession of the state library, will soon be presented to the state by H. E. Digges of Sacramento. Other than its value as a memento of the stirring days when tribal Indians were often a menace to peaceful occupancy of the country by the pioneers, it has historic significance in that its signing saved a Shasta county community from probable massacre.

The Must Hatch Incubator company at Petaluma will begin the duplication of its great plant as soon as the city council amends the zoning ordinance to make it possible. The new building will give Petaluma the largest hatchery in the world. When the present building was opened with a capacity of a million eggs hatch at a time, all records of the world were broken, but the company now feels justified in doubling its enormous output.

The city of Weed, Siskiyou county, has selected a unique method of separating the chaff from the wheat in deciding which of its newcomers are desirable as permanent residents. The authorities simply round up the questionable characters and look at their pocketbooks. Ruling that an unemployed person without at least one dollar is an "undesirable citizen," the town fathers ousted 46 persons a short time ago.

If the ratio of increase in insanity in California maintains the average set since 1910 everyone in the state will be insane in 50,000 years, mathematicians of the State Department of Institutions have figured out. In the last sixteen years the number of insane in California has increased from 7,136 to 13,378. In 1910, one in every 333 was insane. In 1925 it was one in 299.

The tallest power line tower in the world—a shaft which will rise in the air 459 feet—is being erected by the Pacific Gas and Electric company near Rio Vista, Solano county, it was announced by company officials in Sacramento. A 220,000-volt transmission line will be raised on this tower and stretched 7,029 feet across the Sacramento river.

In addition to plans for a campaign to wipe out illegal secret fraternities in the high schools of California, the high school, junior high school and junior college principals, meeting in annual convention at Pasadena will consider a more comprehensive program for grouping pupils, according to intelligence and charter in classroom work.

Members of the Democrat State Central committee from all sections of California, in session at the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, a short time ago, decided to hold a preprimary convention this year at Santa Cruz on Friday, May 21, for the purpose of insuring solidarity and efficiency in the campaign for the fall elections.

Preparation of a monument to be unveiled in Memorial Grove at Capitol Park, Sacramento, on Memorial day, has been ordered by the state board of control in keeping with an appropriation bill passed by the 1925 Legislature.

That growers and shippers of Brawley believe that it is to be the center of a considerably greater production area is indicated by the fact that about a score of them are financing the building of a new hotel. It is to be a modern four-story building with over 100 guest rooms.

A large number of minnows are to be imported from California and placed in the streams, lakes and ponds of Nevada to combat mosquitoes, according to action taken by the Nevada Fish and Game Commission on the recommendation of the State Board of Health.

Construction of a $50,000 sewerage system in Hayward will be started at once.

Southern California has become the largest colored tile consuming center in the world.

The 1926 Orange county fair will be held on property on the state highway at Santa Ana.

Mrs. Elvira A. Glendenning, pioneer resident of the Scott valley district, is dead at the age of 87.

Sawmills in the El Dorado forest district are now operating at full blast for the spring cut.

The sixth annual wild flower show was held at Ukiah, Mendocino county, March 29, 30 and 31.

Corning, Tehama county, will hold its third annual festival and band carnival April 30 and May 1.

Panthers are numerous in Mendocino county this year and causing much destruction on ranches.

The teachers in the rural schools near Healdsburg, Sonoma county, have formed a Rural Teachers' association.

The recent strike made in the old Harriman mine near Jacksonville, Tuolumne county, grows richer with every round of shots.

An architect has been selected to draw plans and specifications for the new $100,000 Elks' lodge building, to be erected at Ventura.

Considerable interest is being manifested at Isleton, Sacramento county, in the Asparagus Festival which will be held May 15 and 16.

The 1,000,000 commercial and residential hotel constructed at Pasadena will be immediately constructed.

Red Bluff is to have another new industry in the near future when a factory for the making of fruit and berry baskets will be established.

Preparations are being made at Willows, for a big celebration some time next month in honor of the completion of the new $2,000,000 hotel.

With Los Angeles as its leading construction center, California is third among the states in the union in volume of construction for February.

During the seven-year period from 1919 to and including 1925, the total volume of building in southern California amounted to approximately 1,400,000,000.

Preparations are being made by the State Highway Commission for beginning the work of rebuilding the San Juan-Hollister section of the state highway.

Every civic organization in California will be urged, during American Forest Week, April 18 to 24, "to perpetuate American forests for the American people."

Surveyors have completed subdividing Sunshine ranch at San Fernando, Los Angeles county, and a crew of men are clearing the large acreage for home building.

Enrico M. Cunio has applied to the railroad commission for a certificate to operate auto passenger, baggage and baggage service between Jackson and Cooke's station, Amador county.

John R. Knight, student of the Glenn county high school at Willows, and president of the student body, has received notification of his appointment to the Annapolis Naval Academy.

Plans for a seven-story class A building, to cost approximately $200,000, for the Santa Monica Telephone company at Santa Monica, have been completed and construction work will start soon.

Architects have prepared plans for rebuilding the St. Francis hospital at Santa Barbara. The new structure will be four stories in height, and will have accommodations for seventy beds.

B. D. Mason, dairy inspector of the state department of agriculture, has been appointed official representative of the department on the board of directors of the San Francisco Mercantile Exchange.

Carmichael, Sacramento county, voters polled a vote of 110 majority of a total of 146 in favor of the issuance of $19,500 of elementary school bonds for the construction of additional school buildings.

A lighting district, taking in the town of Guerneville and extending all along the roads in the Russian river section, now being formed, will prove another added attraction to the playground on the river.

Oakdale, Stanislaus county, is to have another beauty spot, the Southern Pacific having given City Clerk Clarence Wood permission to convert the right of way in front of the city hall into a city park.

The Lions' Club, Merchants' association and other civic bodies at Manteca, San Joaquin county, are joining hands in a move to send the Manteca band to Fresno to take part in the Raisin day festival on April 15.

The Salinas county board of supervisors has selected a sixty-acre tract in the Santa Lucia range, near the head of the Arroyo Seco, as a memorial park in honor of the soldier and sailor dead from that county.

One of the greatest mining discoveries in Tuolumne county in many years is the uncovering of a monster ledge, ranging from 80 to 300 feet, on the old Mullins' property near Tuttle-town, once a lively gold camp, but now almost forgotten. Assays range from $2 to $12.

With a crew of over 100 men at work, and planting of walnuts accelerated from thirty acres per day to sixty acres, the ranch organization of the Fontana Farms company is exerting every effort to complete preparations for the opening of 1380 acres of land west of Fontana.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

PADEREWSKI GREAT FRIEND OF LEGION

"The American Legion has no greater friend than Ignace Jan Paderewski," declared John R. McQuigg, national commander of the Legion, recently in pointing out the unusual efforts made by the aging master of the piano in behalf of the Legion's $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war.

The largest individual gift to date to the Legion's endowment fund, $28,487.67, was made by Paderewski. The gift represented the receipts from a series of four concerts at New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. Not only did Paderewski give the entire proceeds of the concerts to the fund, but he also defrayed all the expenses of himself and his large staff.

When President Coolidge, honorary chairman of the Legion's endowment fund, was informed of Paderewski's generous gifts to the fund, he wrote to Commander McQuigg:

"I am extremely gratified that the Paderewski concerts added so materially to the Legion endowment fund, and the thanks of all those interested in this fine cause are due to the pianist and to those who had the matter in charge."

In appreciation of Paderewski's efforts for the endowment fund and in recognition of his distinguished World war record generally, the Legion extended him a special tribute when he appeared in concert recently at Indianapolis, where national headquarters of the Legion is located. When the great Pole arrived at the concert hall he was met at the stage entrance by a Legion committee representing Commander McQuigg. Color bearers stood at either side of the entrance bearing the national and Legion colors. The Legion committee occupied a box suitably decorated. Following the concert a floral tribute in behalf of nearly a million Legionnaires was presented.

Following the concert, the Legion expressed to Paderewski the Legion's appreciation for what he had done for the disabled and the orphans of the war. Mr. Paderewski replied:

"I want to express my thanks to the Legion for having been permitted in my small way to show my appreciation for what American soldiers did for honor and service and love of liberty. For you fought not for the Stars and Stripes only, but for the Polish eagle."

Legionnaires Take Jobs of Illinois Policemen

When a large part of the police force of La Grange, Ill., went on strike recently in sympathy with a chief of police who resigned, it seemed that the town would be unprotected until the American Legion came to its rescue.

The trustees of the village met in special session and issued a call for volunteers. Col. W. M. Curtis, commander of the local American Legion post, responded.

Within a few minutes he had a force of twenty-five Legionnaires on the streets to protect the village from any criminals that might take advantage of an unpoliced city.

"The American Legion responded nobly in this crisis," Trustee W. M. Galvin said. "Within a few minutes after part of the police force quit we had Legionnaires patrolling the streets and they stuck to their posts until regular officers could be sworn in."

Son Killed in War; Impostor Is Detected

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Frazier of South Dakota have apparently at last accepted the finding of a federal jury that their son, Arthur, was killed in the World war and buried in a Nebraska cemetery. Through a long controversy they maintained their belief that a man claiming to be their son was really Arthur, even after the jury found that he was an impostor. Advances reaching Minnesota Legionnaires indicate that the couple have applied for federal and state bonuses as beneficiaries of Arthur.

Arithmetic

A benevolent old gentleman (Isn't it the darndest how they always crop up in a story?) noticed a small boy burst into tears after he had dropped a dime down a grating.

"Never mind, little man," he comforted. "I'll give you another dime."

"But then," wailed the youngster, bursting into a fresh spasm, "I've had twenty cents if I hadn't lost one. Wawawahoo!"—American Legion Weekly.

Supplied

Noticing a pretty new face in his congregation, the minister was bound to display a cordial interest.

"We are pleased to have you here," he told her politely. "If you will give me your name and address I shall be happy to call."

"Cut it, doc," retorted the flapper, wearily. "I've got a shell."—American Legion Weekly.

TOURISTS SPEND MILLIONS

More than four million dollars was expended in Northern and Central California during 1925 by automobile tourists served by the California State Automobile Association, according to a statement issued by George S. Grant, head of the touring bureau of the association.

"We issued approximately 38,000 permits to visitors from other states as required by state law," said Grant. "And of course this does not take into account the permits issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California or other agencies."

"We have the right to assume that the average expenditure of a motor tourist party is around $100, and, on this basis, the money left by tourists that applied to us for permits will run close to four million dollars. The figure for the whole state would probably be six or seven millions, or even more."

"Thus is California reaping a benefit from her wonderful system of good roads. Not only do these tourists make a direct return in money expended for living while here, but they are all good boosters for California when they return to their homes, and many of them afterwards return here to live."

AMERICANS FIRST

In connection with the problem of alien criminals, the proposal has been made that all foreigners convicted and sentenced to one year or more in prison shall be deported after they have served their sentences.

The plan has been discussed recently by the House committee on immigration, and it is hoped by this means to ultimately relieve the congestion in federal and state penitentiaries.

One of the members of the committee jokingly pleaded for the adoption of the deportation plan on patriotic grounds, saying:

"We have got to save American prisons for Americans. We can't afford to have aliens crowding our people out of their own jails."

DIGNITY OF CONGRESS

Congressman Thomas of Oklahoma is disturbed by having noticed that many newspapers and magazines are continually "belittling congress," and he wants an investigation of the cause of these assaults upon the dignity of that body.

In fairness to Mr. Thomas it must be said that he appears to be desirous of removing the causes for criticism, through a better functioning of congress itself, and does not entirely blame the critics.

Much of the censure and ridicule directed at our national law-making body is occasioned by the antics of a minority of the members, of course. In their striving for notoriety or applause which may gain votes "back home," many Senators and Congressmen are led into advocating foolish measures or impelled to foolish utterances which do them no credit in the eyes of the country at large.

Some Congressmen possess only third or fourth rate minds at best, and when to their natural mediocrity is added a propensity for playing to the grandstand, with its inevitable accompaniment of insincerity, it is little wonder that their actions excite derision, or even contempt.

On the other hand, those who combine real ability with sincerity of purpose usually receive the credit they deserve at the hands of the press.

A BURIAL AT SEA

While his printing presses whirled and throbbed in more than a score of daily newspaper offices, reeling off miles and miles of newsprint, the body of a great publisher was quietly dropped over the side of his yacht Ohio and found its resting place at the bottom of the Atlantic a few days ago. Edward W. Scripps, founder of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers and allied enterprises, had passed from life's stage.

Far from the Illinois prairie farm where he was born in 1854, his mortal remains were disposed of as he had wished. Instructions delivered to the captain of his yacht and filed in his Cincinnati office three years ago directed that he should be buried wherever he might die, without consultation with his family or business associates.

Since retiring from the active management of his vast properties in 1920, Mr. Scripps passed his last years in cruising the seven seas. He died suddenly of apoplexy on board his vessel in Monrovia Bay, on the African coast. The yacht steamed out to sea for two hours, then stopped while the flag-draped body, without coffin, was consigned to the deep with a brief burial service read by the captain.

From the humblest beginnings, Edward W. Scripps rose to the highest position of power and influence in the publishing world. But though he became a multi-millionaire, his heart was always with the common people, for whom his sympathies were as broad and deep as the sea which is his sepulcher.

UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS

In the interest of uniform traffic laws for the entire country, a national conference on street and highway safety was recently held in Washington. Those sponsoring the conference rightly believe that the wide diversity of traffic regulations now in effect tends to increase the number of accidents which occur.

With each state, county and city a law unto itself in traffic matters, it is inevitable that tourists and other travelers find it difficult to keep informed of the varying rules of the many different communities through which they pass.

At the conference mentioned considerable discussion of speed regulations was had, after which it was voted to recommend a uniform limit of twenty miles an hour for both business and residential sections of cities, except at street intersections and school zones, where it should be reduced to fifteen miles an hour.

Such a speed limit rigidly enforced would conduce to greater safety than the freakish ordinances which exist in some places which prescribe a much less speed, but which no one pays any attention to. As a matter of fact, no arbitrary speed limit can insure safety when drivers fail to use common sense.

But whatever speed or other regulations are determined upon should be uniform throughout the entire country and the movement toward that end should have the hearty support of every community.

In 1885 the total telephone wire mileage underground in New York City was about the same as would be contained in a quarter-mile length of modern 1200-pair cable.

RELIC OF LINCOLN

When President Abraham Lincoln, mortally wounded, was carried from Ford's Theatre to the home of William Peterson, a tailor, living across the street, he was placed in the room of 13-year-old Pauline Peterson, where he breathed his last early the following morning.

During the night the blood-stained head of the martyred president had rested on the child's square feather pillow. The pillow was reverently preserved by the tailor's daughter, who afterward became Mrs. Wenzing, and upon her death a few weeks ago she willed the prize relic to Mrs. Jessie F. Webster, a school teacher. With it went an affidavit prepared by Mrs. Wenzing before her death, as follows:

"This is to certify that the pillow now in the possession of Jessie F. Webster, of the City of Washington, D. C., is the same pillow on which President Abraham Lincoln died, April 15, 1865. His death occurred in my room in my old home, No. 516 Tenth street, Washington, D. C."

The pillow, now yellow with age, still bears its crimson stains and is perhaps the most intimate memento of a national tragedy now in existence. It should be preserved in the National Museum or other appropriate repository.

PUBLIC OPINION AND TAXES

"People speak of passage of the tax bill as a notable victory for non-partisanship," says the New York Times. "The real victory was won by public opinion. After more than two years of discussion of federal tax reduction, the conviction became so general that it was both desirable and feasible that no party could stand out against it. So both parties co-operated in framing and passing the tax bill."

"There will doubtless be futile attempts to extract party credit out of the achievement. Most of the real credit ought to go, not to either party, nor to any set of political leaders, but to sound financial ideas and to the ability of the American people to grasp them and to insist that they be acted upon."

LET RADIO DEVELOP NORMALLY

The success and the very existence of radio broadcasting depends upon the general public that owns and uses receiving sets. The sending stations give them the sort of entertainment and instruction they want, or can be educated to want.

In this country, the government interferes with and manages radio much less than in European countries. This, Secretary Hoover holds to be very commendable. He declares himself against any censorship on the broadcasters, except such as can be exercised by the listeners-in through the ordinary legal agencies.

It is recognized that all problems of distribution of equipment and broadcasting can not be solved at once, and care should be taken not to move too fast in establishment of rules.

COAL FIND IN SOUTHWEST

The coal deposits and other mineral resources of the Gallup-Zuni Basin, in New Mexico, are the subject of a geological report just issued by the Department of the Interior as Bulletin 767 of the geological survey.

This basin, which lies in McKinley and Valencia counties, has great economic value as well as geologic interest. Its commercial importance is at present centered in the Gallup coal district, the natural wealth of the rest of the basin having been almost untouched. The Gallup district, in which active mining has been carried on for nearly half a century, is now the second largest producing district in the state, and owing to the adaptability of the coal for certain uses, the convenient shipping facilities, and the nearness of the coal beds to the mining camps of Arizona, it is one of the most important coal mining districts in the southwest.

SIMPLIFICATION OF THE CODE

Despite the established rule that ignorance of the law is no excuse before the bar of justice, the California layman desirous of keeping pace with his lawmakers faces a life-long task, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson declared in a statement recently, urging simplification of the code.

Any citizen who set out to familiarize himself with the laws now in effect, said Johnson, would be required to read two statutes daily for a period of twenty-six years. If the present rate of 500 new measures per legislative session continued, he would still be confronted with 6,000 new acts at the end of his long period of study, the treasurer added.

Charging that the statute books are cluttered up with unnecessary legislation, Treasurer Johnson said that a study just completed revealed 19,207 state laws in full force and effect, in addition to thousands of federal acts and county and city ordinances. The state measures, he pointed out, contain an average of from one to ten sections, and in some cases run into hundreds of sub-divisions.

"Under present conditions," declared Johnson, "even attorneys find it practically impossible to keep informed on new legislation. If lawyers are unable to keep up with the lawmakers, the plight of the average citizen is apparent. The task is hopeless. Yet, if he runs afoul of some one of the 19,000 odd statutes unknown to him, he is likely to be penalized for his ignorance."

INCREASED TELEPHONE USE
REQUIRES GREATER SERVICE

Many people do not understand why, with increase in numbers of telephones, rates should increase, when most other services grow cheaper as their use is extended.

To the prospective subscriber it appears that all that is necessary is to put a telephone instrument in his home or office. What is actually necessary is, not only to install the instrument in his home or office, but to provide also the complicated plant which will make it possible for his telephone to be connected with any other telephone in the United States, or for any one of the others to be connected with him.

Each new telephone means increased investment in plant, which is only in part represented by either the telephone instrument or the line running to the particular central office to which it is connected. Not only does this tend to a more than proportionate increase in the plant, but it also means increased complexity of operation.

The problem of furnishing service increases with the number of telephones which can be connected, and it is obvious, when one considers the nature of the business, that the many factors entering into cost of furnishing service would increase more rapidly if it were not for new economies constantly being effected by the telephone organization.

The fiftieth anniversary of the telephone brings the startling realization that the "wrong number" joke is only half a century old.

The only exclusive masculine barber shop we have seen lately was in connection with a "pants pressed while you wait" establishment.

When airplanes become as numerous as flippers, there might be a legitimate market for blue sky.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEES' SALE
UNDER DEED OF TRUST.

WHEREAS, CHARLES GUST AND ANASTASSIA GUST, his wife, did heretofore make, execute and deliver a certain deed of trust, bearing date the thirty-first day of October, 1924, conveying to GEO. M. MITCHELL and JOHN HENDERSON, as trustees, certain real property, hereinafter and in said deed of trust particularly described, for the benefit of and to secure the payment to HOME MUTUAL DEPOSIT-LOAN COMPANY, a corporation, of the principal and interest of a certain promissory note or loan agreement, also bearing date of October 31, 1924, payable to said Home Mutual Deposit-Loan Company, which said deed of trust was recorded on the 5th day of November, 1924, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California, in Volume 137 of Official Records, at page 385 thereof; and

Whereas, on the 16th day of December, 1925, said Home Mutual Deposit-Loan Company recorded a notice of default and election to sell under said deed of trust, in Volume 269 of Official Records, at page 27, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California; and

Whereas, said Home Mutual Deposit-Loan Company has made demand upon the trustees, Geo. M. Mitchell and John Henderson, under the power and authority conferred upon them as trustees under said deed of trust to sell the real property therein and hereinafter particularly described, to satisfy said indebtedness;

Now, therefore, in accordance with the terms and conditions and under the authority of said deed of trust, and in pursuance of a resolution passed and adopted on the 8th day of December, 1925, by the Board of Directors of said Home Mutual Deposit-Loan Company, the owner and holder of the promissory note or loan agreement hereinbefore referred to, declaring that default in the payment of principal and interest on said promissory note or loan agreement has been made and requesting and directing said Geo. M. Mitchell and John Henderson, as trustees under the power and authority conferred upon them by said deed of trust, and in pursuance of said resolution, to sell said real property described in said deed of trust and hereinafter particularly described, to satisfy said indebtedness, the undersigned, Geo. M. Mitchell and John Henderson, do hereby give notice that, on TUESDAY, the 13th day of April, 1926, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. of said day, at the office of Home Mutual Deposit-Loan Company, No. 282 Bush street, in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, they will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin of the United States, all that certain real property, with improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in the Town of Daly City, County of San Mateo, State of California, and described as follows:

Lot Numbered Five (5), in Block Lettered "T," as shown on that certain map entitled "Map showing subdivision of the property of the Mission Street Land Co., situated in San Francisco and San Mateo Cos., Cal.," filed in the office of the County Recorder of San Mateo County July 31, 1896, in Book "B" or Original Maps, at page 73, and copied into Book 2 of Maps, at page 73.

Terms of Sale: Cash, ten (10) per cent payable to the undersigned at the fall of the hammer, balance upon delivery of deed, and if not so paid, unless for want of title, ten (10) days being allowed for search, the said ten (10) per cent to be forfeited and the sale to be void.

Dated, San Francisco, California, March 18, 1926.

GEO. M. MITCHELL, Trustee.
JOHN HENDERSON, Trustee.

MOANS OVER WIRE SAVE
LIFE OF INJURED WOMAN

A telephone in the home of Anna Gardner, of Elmhurst, N. Y., recently saved her life. Meeting with an accident, she fell near her telephone, knocking it over and disconnecting the receiver. Miss M. Murphy, telephone operator, answered the signal, but received no response. Finally, however, she heard moaning sounds and police headquarters were notified. The police, breaking into the house, came upon the injured woman just in time, for she was bleeding profusely.

In some recent supplications for rain appear to have gotten results which remind us of the brother who prayed for too much pepper.

Honesty is no doubt the best policy but there are three others well worth considering—fire, life and accident.

GAS STATION BANDIT
SHOT BY PATROLMAN

The career of the daring oil station bandit who had terrorized the entire peninsula district for the past two months, robbing nine stations in San Mateo, Burlingame and Redwood City and one in Daly City, came to a fatal ending Tuesday night when the man was shot by Officer Sylvester Douglas of the Redwood City police department after he had again robbed the Standard oil station in Redwood City. The robber, who has not as yet been identified, encountered the officer soon after robbing the station, and when ordered to throw up his hands, reached for his automatic. The officer fired with a sawed-off shotgun he carried, the full charge striking the man in the face. The wounded bandit was removed to the hospital, where he died during the night.

SANTA CRUZ TO ENTERTAIN
EDITORS OF THE NATION

Royal entertainment for the six hundred editors and publishers of the United States who will attend the National Editorial Association convention in California next July was assured recently when the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce appropriated $1,000 to meet the expenses of a luncheon-banquet and sight-seeing tour when the delegates arrive in Santa Cruz on their tour of Central and Northern California on July 11. The special trains carrying the newspaper men are expected to reach Santa Cruz about noon on July 11 in time for an open air luncheon on the beach under the supervision of the Casa del Ray Hotel. A special band already has been engaged for the occasion. Following the luncheon several hundred automobiles will transport the delegates to the famous scenic spots in and about Santa Cruz. A special women's organization under the direction of the combined improvement clubs of Santa Cruz has taken over arrangements to present flowers and souvenirs to the guests. "Santa Cruz is enthusiastic over the opportunity to entertain these editors, and all of our citizens are determined to make their visit one of the most unusual of events," said Leslie Cranbourne, secretary-manager of the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce.

POSTAL EMPLOYEE DROWNED
WHILE ON FISHING TRIP

A terrible accident occurred over the week end at Salada Beach. While fishing from a rock, waves swept Chris Anderson, of 2606 Twenty-first street, San Francisco, into the ocean. His two companions, George W. Flatley, of Monterey boulevard, San Francisco, and M. Behrens, of Santa Rosa avenue, San Francisco, accompanied by Officer Wafer of the San Francisco police department, tried hard to rescue him, but the sea was too rough, and Anderson perished. Constable S. A. Landini and Deputy Coroner Luella D. Pepper were summoned, but were unable to recover the body, which has not been found as yet. The three members of the fishing trip were all employees of the Ferry post office, San Francisco.

PEOPLE OF SANTA CLARA
VOTE NEW CITY CHARTER

Santa Clara on Monday threw overboard the city charter adopted in 1871 and adopted a new one which will give the town a mayor, a paid fire department and a higher tax rate limit. The new charter, drawn by the board of freeholders last September, was adopted by a vote of 627 to 15. The annexation of new territory for town expansion is also provided for in the new charter. It fixes $1 on the $100 as the tax limit, an increase of 100 per cent over the old limit.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Farman Anderson, aged 14, America's youngest airplane pilot, now has been flying about a year. He recently piloted his plane alone from his home in Anderson, Indiana, to Philadelphia, and also gave aviation testimony before a congressional committee.

Yehudi Menuhin, 8-year-old Jewish boy, was acclaimed an accomplished violinist upon his recent appearance at the Manhattan opera house in New York City.

Ruth Horn, 9 years old, a Freshman in a Brooklyn high school, considered by her teachers to be a real prodigy, having completed her first eight grades in three years.

Michael Masteron, aged 14, earned money working in an Atlantic City bath house to visit relatives in Ireland, whence he has returned home, declaring that "Europe is the bunk."

Little Virginia Marshall, one of the most attractive of child actresses, has a prominent role in a new picture with Tom Mix.

Lung Too Fung, 9-year-old Chinese boy with a miniature mechanical brain, has returned from a theatre which he will exhibit to earn money for his schooling.

Forty-five 14-year-old girls, who recently graduated from a country school near London, have been declared entirely qualified to run their own households.

Beginning next week, a series of articles on low priced transmitters will be published. Practically any magazine is full of receiving sets. To cover such a field in this column would be useless. However, outside of Q S T, very few transmitter articles are published. A good five-watt transmitter, complete, costs less than a good five-tube receiver. Transmitting is the big end of the radio. Suitable awards are offered this year for low power transmission. We know of at least five wonderful cups and an Elgin watch. The fun is many times more than that of receiving.

The radio editor welcomes any questions. If what you want is not published, write us and say so. Thank you!

Emergency Pantry
Meets Home NeedBy META H. GIVEN
(Home Economist.)

Efficiency and economy go hand and hand in the home as well as in the business world. The emergency pantry, latest innovation in the cuisine of the modern housewife is particularly indicative of the truth of this statement.

This new sort of pantry—it may just be a shelf in the regular larder—does away with that bugaboo of the home maker, the surprise guest. Every woman has had the experience of welcoming an unexpected visitor when supplies were at low ebb and has searched high and low to find something presentable to put on the table. The emergency shelf in the pantry does away with such worries in short order.

A can opener and—presto—a veritable banquet can be prepared in a few minutes. The housewife may have her choice of many excellent meats, corn, tomatoes, mushrooms. If she is short of milk or cream, a can of evaporated milk, which is simply fresh cow's milk sterilized in the can and with sixty per cent of the water removed will do the trick. In fact she may have two hundred or more savory dishes ready to her hand.

When the surprise guest does arrive the hostess naturally wishes to be hospitable. She doesn't want to be tied to the kitchen range half the afternoon. She wants to entertain as she has been entertained.

It isn't possible if she has to phone frantically for the butcher, the grocer and the baker.

But that's only one of the places where the emergency pantry comes in. Backed by a well-stocked emergency shelf, the wife can get together a splendid luncheon or dinner in a jiffy. The spontaneous wish that comes at the last moment to informally invite a few friends for lunch can be gratified at once with the aid of the new pantry.

Afternoon tea for the bridge club is an equally easy matter. A glass of preserves or jelly, a platter of bread and butter, tea, and a dish of cookies will meet the ordinary demands of the casual caller and a can of evaporated milk will answer the milk or cream need.

WANT ADS BY WIRE

The increasing part played by the telephone in the advertising departments of newspapers is illustrated by the fact that approximately 400,000 want ads which appeared in the Chicago Daily News during 1925 were placed over the telephone.

In announcing his candidacy for the office of lieutenant-governor, Lyman M. King, editor of the Redlands Daily Facts, and author of the so-called King tax bill, declares: "I am not a candidate at the solicitation of 'my friends.' I seek the place of my own volition."

John McCormack's life is insured for a million dollars, but we'd hate to risk that much on some who try to sing.

An increased number of visitors to the New York Zoo is noted, possibly as a result of the agitation over evolution.

Archidemus Giocomantonio, a Jersey City schoolboy, is winning fame as a sculptor and has just completed a statue of Abraham Lincoln.

If present immigration laws had been in force earlier, some of our ancestors wouldn't have gotten in.

About the rarest bird to be seen this summer is a congressman who isn't seeking re-election.

Anyway we are getting a more intellectual class of people into our penitentiaries.

Nearly everybody has expressed an opinion concerning the Charleston, except St. Vitus.

BEGINS WORK ON BIG POWER PLANT

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is beginning preliminary construction of its new Mokelumne river project. A $10,000,000 development program is under way. Crews of men are moving in for the construction of approximately fifty miles of power line from the Electra power house, located near Jackson, to the Salt Springs dam site. This new line will serve temporary power for the construction work. Twenty-five miles of road are to be built, taking in part of the old road running into Tiger Creek mill site. The company's Mokelumne river development involves the construction of a dam on the Mokelumne river at Salt Springs, approximately four miles up stream from the junction of the Mokelumne with its principal tributary the Bear river. According to the report of the engineers this will be one of the highest rock-filled dams in the world. The dam site will be at an elevation of 3,800 feet above sea level and lies in a granite country typical of the Sierra Nevada range. Cliffs in excess of 1,000 feet in height rise from the stream on either side of a narrow gorge. The dam will be 213 feet in height, of rock filled construction with concrete face, and will require one million cubic yards of material in its construction.

The water impounded will create a reservoir of 60,000 acre feet capacity. From an intake at the dam, the water will be conveyed by a concrete lined canal and tunnel for a distance of twenty-five miles to Tiger Creek. At this point the water will be dropped 1,200 feet through penstocks to operate a new power house with an installed capacity of 47,000 horsepower. The water will be carried from the Tiger Creek power house to the company's Electra power house, where it will be further used for the generation of electric energy, increasing the output of the Electra power house which has now an installed capacity of 26,810 horsepower.

ABOUT WOMEN

Mrs. Laura Mattingly, of Charleston, Mo., is contesting a decision of local authorities, who declare she can not attend a public school because she is married.

Miss Veronica Purviance, of Kansas City, who danced a whole evening with the Prince of Wales when they met at Montevideo, Uruguay, has sent him an invitation to her wedding to Leo Welch, an American.

Miss Kate Lacy, of Corsicana, Texas, bravely rescued several children from a vicious dog, in spite of her being bitten repeatedly by the animal.

Miss Gertrude Rogers, of Quincy, Mass., has succeeded in collecting rare specimens of bacteria at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

When two negroes attempted to rob Mrs. C. L. Graham, of Chicago, she threw acid in their faces and they fled.

Princess Abida of Bhopal, India, will marry a native ruler next fall, when she will be 14 years old.

Mlle. Hortens, of Paris, appeared at a ball wearing sandals revealing diamond fastenings on two toes of each foot.

Mrs. Martha Preller, aged 81, after an airplane flight from Germany to England, declared that she found the experience "very dull."

Perhaps the meek shall inherit the earth, but they will never get it any other way.

Another paradox is that only those who remain slaves to art become its masters.

Miss Vera Musselwhite, of Fawley, England, was saved from drowning by her horse, which swam to her while she was struggling in a lake.

Cloth From Pineapples

In France a new fabric that promises to become popular is made from pineapple fiber. It looks like a mixture of cambric and silk. The idea is not essentially new as the natives of Africa have long made their fish nets from the fiber. The fiber does not disintegrate as quickly as cotton material. While the African product is very crude, the skilled process in France makes a superfine cloth, it is said.

Fay Lanphier's Beauty Secrets

A LOT of people ask me how it feels to go all the way across the continent to Atlantic City and then be chosen Miss America. The answer is, I would like to help every California woman make the most of the charms Nature has given her. Much depends on the way you dress—and most of all on the hats you wear. I have written a book on hat styles which is yours, FREE, if you will just ask me for it. It tells how hat styles originate, what hat is most becoming to your type, and it illustrates, with my pictures, the hats I wear, which were copied specially for me from exclusive Paris models by a large New York manufacturer. The booklet shows you how to direct these stunning sport felt hats from New York. You may have it FREE if you will write for it today. I am sure it will help you realize your charms of style and attractiveness. I want you to use the coupon today so you can be sure of being one of the first California women to have these styles. If you wish, write us, stating headsize measured in inches, and color preferred, and we will send you hat pictured above, for $4.95 C. O. D.

Making the Receiver Selective—Three Methods of Connecting the Wave Trap Are Shown in the Diagram.

Selectivity, this is the battle cry that has taken the place of the watchword distance, for of what use is a set that is able to tune in the Pacific coast stations if it can't tune out the nearby locals. In the old days of not so long ago when all broadcasting was done on 400 or 300 meters and 500 watts was considered super-power, the sharp tuning qualities of a receiver were not very important factors in its construction. Now, however, come requests for information on how to tune out XYZ while ABC is on, how to tune out the locals and how to separate the locals.

If you have a manufactured five or more tube set that does not tune sharply there is little you can do to remedy it. Any good five-tube set employing two stages of tuned R. F. should be able to separate and tune out local stations that are not closer than 20 meters. If your set does not do this it is either not efficient or you are using an aerial that is too long. With a five-tube set you can use a much shorter aerial than one would suppose, and still get comfortable loud-speaker reception on most of the larger stations within 1,000 miles.

Cut Through Interference.
It is from the owners of the bloopers, the two, three and four-circuit receivers that most of the complaints regarding nonselectivity come. For them we can suggest the wave trap, and if it is made with care and of low-resistance parts the user will be able to cut his path through interference with greater ease.

Wave traps in general are of two kinds: Those that are shunted across the antenna and ground and called "acceptors" and those that are in series with the antenna and ground and called "rejectors." A rejector prevents one frequency from getting into the receiver and lets all others pass. It cuts a slice out of the stations that are on the air. An acceptor provides a convenient by-pass for all frequencies but the one that the listener desires to hear.

A wave trap is simply a good coil shunted by a condenser and designed so that it will tune from the lowest to the highest broadcasting station. A good wave trap may be made from one of the antenna couplers with condenser units that are being sold for use in a tuned radio frequency set. Three methods of connecting the wave trap are shown in the diagram. When in series with the antenna, as in No. 1 or No. 3 the wave trap may be set at the wave length of the interfering station and that station will not interrupt until the tuning of the trap has been changed. When across the input to the receiver as in No. 2, a trap will let into the set only the signal that is desired and makes tuning somewhat more complicated, but when the user becomes more accustomed to using it he will find that it helps considerably.

Converting Into Wavemeter.
A wave trap, besides its use as a filter, can be conveniently converted into a wave meter by calibrating it in wave lengths. It need only be placed near one of the coils of the receiving set to indicate the frequency of the incoming signals. When the wave trap condenser is turned a sharp decrease in signal strength for the non-regenerative receiver will be noted, and a click will be noted with an oscillating receiver when the wave trap is in consonance with the circuit of the receiving set. By calibrating the condenser settings from a few of the well-known broadcasting stations a wave may be drawn showing the relation between the condenser settings and the wave length at the various dial readings.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOREFATHERS OF RADIO

By GEORGE LEWIS
of The Crosley Radio Corporation.

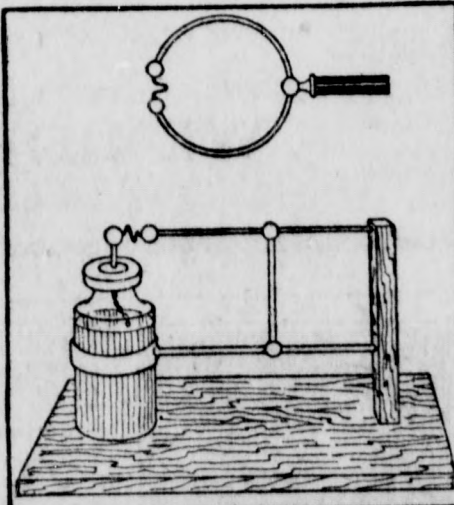

In 1887, Heinrich Hertz, a German physicist, conducted the experiments which resulted in scientists accepting Maxwell's theory of electromagnetic waves as a fact, and in engineers developing the practical use of these waves in radio.

As the story goes, Hertz was experimenting with some apparatus for causing an electric spark. Nearby he had a loop of wire, the ends of which were a hair's breadth apart. He noticed that every time there was a spark in his apparatus, another spark would jump across the gap in the loop of wire. Hertz' sparking apparatus was the first radio transmitter, and the little loop of wire was the first radio receiver.

Hertz believed this result to be by vibrating electric current in the sparking apparatus and picked up by the little coil of wire. It is not difficult to understand that a vibrating current might send out waves when one considers analogies. When you drop a board into a pond of water, it splashes up and down and sends out waves. When you pound a drum, the tightly-stretched drumhead vibrates and sends out sound waves into the air.

A Battery Brief

To have a battery working at its best efficiency, the terminals should be kept free from corrosion, a scale which is formed by the electrolyte or acid. To get rid of it, scrape the terminals until there is a bright lead finish. Washing the terminals with ammonia or some other alkaline solution will neutralize any acid that may be present and prevent corrosion. Take care that none of this solution gets into the battery, as it will neutralize the acid in the battery and also stop its action.

For Perfect Contact

Any electrical connection depends for its efficiency on positive contact of the various metallic parts. Wires that are fastened to terminals should be thoroughly cleaned and then properly soldered.

ETHER WAVES

Adding new electrolyte does not charge a storage battery. A cloth dampened in ammonia will keep the top of the storage battery clean.

With proper care a vacuum tube should give from 700 to 1,000 hours' service.

A great many parts of a set can be bought cheaper than an amateur can make them.

Input to every tube goes to grid and filament, usually negative filament or center arm of potentiometer.

The efficiency of a storage battery is measured by the ratio of an output to the input, generally in amperes hours.

If paste flux is used for soldering it must be removed thoroughly with a cloth, so that it will not creep along the wires, and break down in insulation.

Reverse the leads on the grid coil if signals are mushy and stations hard to get.

Thirty ampere hour capacity means that if one ampere is drawn from a cell every hour it will last 30 hours.

A loop antenna is supposed to intercept maximum signal strength when it is pointed toward the transmitter, but this directional property is affected by the surroundings.

Blackbeard, the Arch Pirate

"A TALL, powerful man with a fierce expression, which was increased by a long beard which grew from below his eyes and hung down to a great length. This he plaited into many tails, each one tied with a colored ribbon and turned back over his ears. When going into action, he wore a sling on his shoulders with three pairs of pistols, and stuck lighted matches under the brim of his hat."

A pleasant picture? Yet, that is what many an ill-fated ship's crew saw when, after a shot had been fired across the bows of their vessel, there came aboard the renowned pirate leader, Capt. Edward Teach, alias Thatch, alias Tach, alias Drummond, alias Blackbeard. As Blackbeard, he is best known, and as Blackbeard he is well named the "arch pirate." For in addition to being an eye-filling spectacle, Blackbeard comes nearest being the typical pirate of fiction of any who ever sailed the Spanish Main.

A peculiar sense of humor had this buccaneering worthy. One day, flushed with wine, he assembled his crew on deck and addressed them as follows: "Come, let us make a hell of our own, and try how long we can bear it." Thereupon he forced several of them to accompany him below, where they shut themselves in the hold and set fire to several pots of brimstone. They stood it as long as they could, then, choking and gasping for air, they stumbled out of the inferno. But the last to come was Blackbeard, who ever afterwards boasted of his hardihood.

Upon one other occasion he sat in his cabin with several of his fellows. Suddenly the pirate leader blew out the candle, and drawing his pistols began firing them under the table. One of the guests, Israel Hands, his sailing master (Stevenson "borrowed" Hands from real life to be a character of fiction in "Treasure Island") was severely wounded in the knee, and the only explanation offered by the playful pirate for his conduct was that "if he did not shoot one or two of them now and then, they'd forget who he was."

A much-married man was Captain Teach. At one time he surrendered to the governor of North Carolina and was pardoned for his crimes. They became great friends, and when Teach confessed that he was in love with a young lady of that province—she was only sixteen years old—the governor was delighted to perform the wedding ceremony. Teach coyly confessed that this was his fourteenth venture into matrimony, and it was common gossip that there were no fewer than twelve Mrs. Teachs still living in different towns in the West Indies.

Blackbeard Takes to Piracy

IN 1716 a certain Captain Teach, who had served an apprenticeship in lawlessness as a privateer out of Jamaica, "went on account." He was put in command of a sloop by the pirate, Benjamin Hornigold, and the two leaders set out from Providence for the American coast. In the West Indies they took their first prizes, then continued on to the coast of Virginia, where they captured a fine French vessel engaged in the Guinea trade. On this Teach mounted 40 guns and renamed it the Queen Anne's Revenge.

His first capture was a big ship named the Great Allen, which he plundered and burned. Attacked by H. M. S. Scarborough, the pirate drove off the man-of-war after a sharp engagement and continued on his way. His next victim was the sloop of the pirate leader, Maj. Stede Bonnet, whom Teach, in a high-handed manner, deprived of his vessel and put one of his own men in command.

Blackbeard's captures were numerous. One of them was a ship bearing the curious name of the Protestant Caesar which Teach burned, not because of her name but because she was from Boston where a number of pirates had lately been hanged. He now turned to the Carolina coast, which had just been suffering from ravages of Capt. Charles Vane.

He capped the climax by sailing his fleet—he had three ships by this time—outside the port of Charleston, S. C., and capturing every vessel that tried to enter or leave port. On one of these were several prominent citizens of the colony, whom Blackbeard held as hostages. Then he sent word to the governor of South Carolina that he was in need of medicines, and unless they were sent forthwith, everyone of his prisoners would be killed. There was some delay in acceding to his demands, and the pirate set about to put his threat into execution. Fortunately, however, the medicine chest arrived in time to save their lives.

Despite his many successes, Teach's life was not a bed of roses. He had unruly men for his crews, and he had to rule them with an iron hand. There has been preserved from his journal (he was a somewhat literary pirate, too, it seems!) the following entries: "1718—Such a Day. Rum all out—Our Company somewhat sober—A d-d Confusion amongst us!—Rogues a-plotting—great Talk of Separation—so I took'd Sharp for a Prize. 1718—Such a Day. Took one with a great deal of Liquor on Board; so kept the Company hot, d-d hot, then all 'Things went well again.' Such a day, indeed! And these only two of many in his infamous career.

Is your car a General Motors Car?

IF YOU own a Chevrolet, a Pontiac, an Oldsmobile, an Oakland, a Buick or a Cadillac, you own a General Motors car.

"But what," you may ask, "does that mean to me?" It means just this:

General Motors is a family of companies building motor cars and trucks and such other famous automotive products as Fisher Bodies, Delco and Remy electrical systems, Harrison radiators and AC spark plugs. Still other General Motors products are Delco-Light electric power plants and Frigidaire electric refrigerators. There are General Motors plants in 44 cities, employing 120,000 people; and sales and service organizations in 144 countries.

General Motors uses the combined resources of this great family for the benefit of each member. It effects great savings in the purchase of quality materials; it provides the best of engineering talent; it maintains the world's largest research laboratories and proving ground for automobiles; and it assures the permanence of its various divisions and the products which they make.

In other words, General Motors has every facility and every incentive to maintain quality and to offer value for the price; and the current models of General Motors cars are offered as the greatest values in the history of the automobile industry.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Ave. N., Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

The Future of Our Country Depends Upon the Homes of the Country

By E. T. BANKS, Federal Board for Vocational Education.

IT IS estimated that $10,000,000,000 is spent in this country for food, clothing and shelter every year, the greater portion of this money by the women of the country. It is estimated that a half-million lives are cut short and 5,000,000 people are made ill annually by preventable diseases. How important it is that the home builders of the country be trained to prevent this human waste.

The girl who would fit herself to be a true home maker should understand the selection and preparation of food for invalids, first aid to the injured, the value of foods that enter into daily consumption, and how to buy them so as to eliminate waste. She should understand ventilation, hygiene, physiology, the prevention of preventable diseases, serving of dinners, laundry work, household decoration and household bookkeeping. Indeed, her studies should cover that broad field which will fit the girl prudently and economically to manage household affairs when she becomes a wife and mother. A good, well-kept home, presided over by an intelligent woman, educated along both general and practical lines, means health, happiness, and prosperity, with healthy children and all those essentials which make life worth living.

The country is fast awakening to the fact that probably 50 per cent of all divorces would have been avoided had the girls been good cooks, good home makers, and good mothers, and it would go a long way toward reducing infant mortality. The future of our country depends upon the homes of the country, and well-regulated society will depend upon the number of well-regulated homes, from which society must come.

Americans Are Drifting Into a Standardization of Mental Habit

By JOHN DRINKWATER, in "American Notes."

In many essential things America is magnificently right, but of its hundred and ten million people about a hundred and five—the five million exception makes a sufficiently imposing aristocracy of the mind—are drifting by some uncanny telepathic process into a standardization of mental habit.

It should at once be said that the limitation is almost entirely one of thought, not of life. Life in America is vivid, immensely varied, full of achieving energy and sparkling with a natural wit that can hardly be found among any of the older and perhaps more tired peoples. And yet living as they do in this world of volatile and sharply defined experiences, and living in it with youthfully alert faculties, the hundred and five million do, as any stranger at once observes, allow their thought to become curiously monotonous in contrast with the vigorous onset of their lives.

Once you get the individual American away from abstractions, you find that in about three cases out of four his life has been a romance. Not merely a romance of spiritual experience, but a real romance of external adventure.

"It Might Also Be Pertinent to Remark That if the Federal Government—"

By GEORGE W. P. HUNT, Governor of Arizona.

The state of Arizona has on file with the federal power commission a request for a permit to erect a dam at Bridge Canyon, a site wholly within the state of Arizona. This site has been declared by an engineer of the United States geological survey and other competent engineers as one of the best power sites on the Colorado river. If the permit is granted to Arizona, I do not feel that it will be necessary to ask the federal government for any money or any federal bond issue to make power available to anyone who cares to buy it.

It might also be pertinent to remark at this point that if the federal government will relinquish to Arizona the public lands and forests in this state, as was done with other states, so that all of the resources within the borders of this state may be available for the development of the state, it will not be necessary, in my judgment, to ask the taxpayers in other states to contribute to the development of the Colorado river or of the state of Arizona. We will be able to undertake the financing of the Colorado river development, and we will not ask permission to invade the rights of any other state in doing so.

The Retail Sales of Tire Dealers Will Approach $1,500,000,000 in 1926

By RALPH C. BUSBEY, India Rubber and Tire Review.

Sixty millions of solid and pneumatic tires and more than 100,000,000 inner tubes, worth considerably more than $1,500,000,000, will be manufactured in the United States this year. In addition, between $30,000,000 and $45,000,000 worth of tire accessories and repair materials will be produced and marketed.

Here in a few words you have the picture of the outlook for the great and growing tire industry for 1926. This year will be the greatest in the industry's history. Planes of production hitherto unthought of will be reached. The retail sales of tire dealers alone this year will approach $1,500,000,000.

There are now more than 20,000,000 motor vehicles registered in the United States. Each will need at least two new tires during the year. More than 4,000,000 new motor vehicles will be produced during 1926, each to require from four to five tires.

These Turnip Seeds Gave the Most Wonderful Crop of Wild Mustard

By REPRESENTATIVE S. S. ARENTZ, of Nevada.

During the last congressional distribution of seeds, I met with a number of complaints from the recipients of the congressional seeds, so that last spring I took some of the turnip seeds that were left over from the distribution and planted in my garden an area of 6 feet wide and about 200 feet long in order to satisfy myself that either I was wrong, the government scientists were wrong, or the recipients, the farmers who received the government seeds, planted them in good faith, tilled the soil, and went to a great deal of trouble in order to raise a crop from government seed, were right. I found that these turnip seeds gave the most wonderful crop of wild mustard I ever saw in my life. Because of the seeds that were delivered to the constituents of this house during the Sixty-seventh congress, 1,666 acres were planted during that congressional term to wild mustard, which is a noxious weed.

THE PENGUINS

"I've come to pass the time of day with you," said Mrs. Penguin.

Mrs. Penguin

Then she stood very straight, not looking down at her poor webbed feet with three regular-sized toes and one very short toe.

She flapped her little feathered wings which are of no use in flying, but only in swimming, and once more laughed.

"It's a great joke," she said, "a very great joke."

"Tell it to me then," said Miss Penguin.

"I didn't know a creature ever said she was bringing a joke, or had come to pass a joke."

"Explain to me."

"I meant that it was a joke that you didn't know what it meant to pass the time of day."

"It's just a little saying meaning we're to have a pleasant chat."

"Oh," said Miss Penguin, "now I understand. By the way, how do you like the zoo?"

"I like it," said Mrs. Penguin, "and I like to tell the other creatures of the interesting parts of the world where penguins live, and of the great men who have made pets of us."

"But I like to live in the same way here as I would if I were there."

"I enjoy swimming and I swim beautifully."

"I like to walk about though I am so fat and awkward that I walk absurdly."

"They give us good fish here just as we would get for ourselves if we were free."

"In short I've nothing to complain about."

"How's Mr. Penguin?" asked Miss Penguin.

"Nicely, thank you," said Mrs. Penguin.

"He is carrying an egg in his pouch, which I just laid."

"He always does that for me. He is kind and considerate as are all Mr. Penguins."

"I expect to be a Mrs. Penguin shortly," said Miss Penguin coyly.

"A handsome Penguin came for a swim with me this morning and after we had waddled up the side of the pond he said:

"Dear Miss Penguin, will you waddle and swim through life with me?"

"And I said I would be honored."

"A h, great news!" said Mrs. Penguin.

"May you be very happy, my dear!"

"Dear me, dear me, I hear my dear Penguin's voice now," Mrs. Penguin exclaimed, "and he is having a good fight."

"But do you think your egg will break?"

"Not a bit of it."

"Penguins can carry eggs in their pouches and fight all they like, fight happily and not cruelly."

"That's how the Mr. Penguins are!"

Carl Couldn't See
Carl, just four, had been carefully dressed and sent out in the yard to play quietly while mother entertained friends at lunch. One of the ladies exclaimed, "Why, Carl, what has happened to the seat of your trousers?" to which little Carl with childish dignity replied, "Me don't know. Me eyes befront me."

Radio Messages to Other Worlds?

Recent discoveries, made known by the president of England's Royal Astronomical society, indicate that the little dark star on which we live is situated not far from the center of the greater universe, something man in his conceited ignorance has always believed. . . . For every sun, or twinkling star in space, there are many more dark stars or planets, which shine, if at all, by reflected light. This destroys one of primitive man's illusions that the sky and sun and stars were all created for the benefit of himself and his fellows alone. In these millions of unseen worlds there must be others similarly situated as our earth, on which the same forms of life have appeared and exist. One of these days radio may be perfected to the point where the people on one planet may exchange messages with those on another. It is a far-distant probability but not an impossibility.—Capper's Weekly.

Dimas V. Cutinas, proprietor of Goodfellow Rest, of Monterey, Cal., visited with George Nick of the Philosophy store, where he was formerly employed.

The first St. Maximus whist after Lent was held Tuesday evening in the Daly City Auditorium. It was very successful, $270 being cleared. Mrs. Kohlmann was chairman.

Mr. Whaley of Salida, Stanislaus county, formerly of Daly City, was visiting with old friends and was very enthusiastic in praise of the fast growth in buildings in Daly City.

Mrs. E. T. Parminter, Mrs. L. M. De Vincenzi, Mrs. L. Millett and children spent Thursday at Golden Gate playgrounds and all had an enjoyable time.

John Battaini, professional golfer, has left for Long Island, N. Y. He will be an assistant to Max Smith of the Olympic Club, present golf champion of the United States. Mr. Battaini is a brother of Mrs. De Vincenzi of Hillcrest Drive.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Camilla, of 28 Knowles avenue, was christened Joseph Roy Camilla last Sunday noon at St. Maximus church. After the ceremony there was a banquet held at the home of the parents, fifty-five persons attending. There was excellent music and a wonderful time was enjoyed by all. The godmother is Martha Crecedo, and the godfather is Domonic Verducci.

Hazel Milo and Antoinette Panella spent the Easter holidays in Sebastopol.

Pete Pavlos is the owner of a brand new Buick coupe, delivery of same having been made this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Cabani and family will leave Monday for Italy. They have lived on Colma street for a number of years.

Miss Evelyn Berry, of Daly City, became the bride of Milton Clarke, of San Francisco, last Sunday afternoon. Her many friends wish her happiness.

Several bunches of keys have been turned over to Marshal Doyle. The owners may have them on identification at the marshal's office in the City Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wright and children, of Hillcrest Drive, spent the week end with relatives in Alameda, and attended the opening day at Neptune Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Ross entertained at Easter dinner Mr. and Mrs. I. Meyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Warshawski and family, and Mrs. Ross' mother, Mrs. A. Meyer, of Vallejo.

Nick Sambrailo, proprietor of the Bank restaurant, 1224 Polk street, long residing in Daly City, has completed his beautiful new home on Santa Cruz avenue, and will occupy the same shortly.

Dog licenses are overdue now. The poundmaster has picked up a score or more of dogs this week, and will continue to do so until the streets are cleared of unlicensed dogs. Dog licenses may be secured from Marshal Doyle at the City Hall between 9:30 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The St. Maximus Girls' Club met last Thursday evening. After the meeting refreshments were served by Dorothy Godfrey, Henrietta Bleasdale, Mary Drhuyvetter, Catherine and Lillian Regan. The club is rapidly growing in membership. Twenty-two new members were enrolled at the last meeting.

While going north on Mission street at 10:30 Sunday evening, an automobile skidded on the wet pavement and ran into the street car waiting station at Evergreen and Mission. There was no one in the station at the time, but the building was demolished. The driver was brought up before Judge Ellis C. Johnson on Tuesday, charged with reckless driving. He was fined $25 and ordered to pay the cost of rebuilding the station.

Miss Ethel Metcalf celebrated her fifteenth birthday last Saturday with a party at her home at 135 Los Banos avenue. The time was spent in games, followed by a delightful supper. Those present were: Jessie Hart, Kathleen Berry, Dora White, Irene Smith, Hermine Vujevitch, Madeline Von Hofer, Violet Craig, Sophie Metcalf, Hugh Smith, Frank MacAvoy, George Johnson, Vernice Cochran, Earl Cochran. Mr. and Mrs. J. Metcalf were also present.

Mrs. Josie S. Frary, principal of the Crocker Tract school, while in the performance of her duty, last Wednesday afternoon, had the misfortune to turn on her ankle and fall in such a way as to break one of the smaller bones of the joint, causing some alarm and considerable pain. She says that no one was to blame, that it was only another accident, and, in a short time, she will be around again. Many friends are doing all they can to help her for the present. Her daughter, Mrs. Ferguson, is filling her place at school.

GRACE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The session of the Grace Presbyterian church met at 7:30 last Sunday evening, with Dr. Willis of the Ocean Avenue Presbyterian church as moderator, and at its conclusion the regular Easter services were held. Mrs. Roof and Mrs. Duvoll sang a duet, which was impressively rendered.

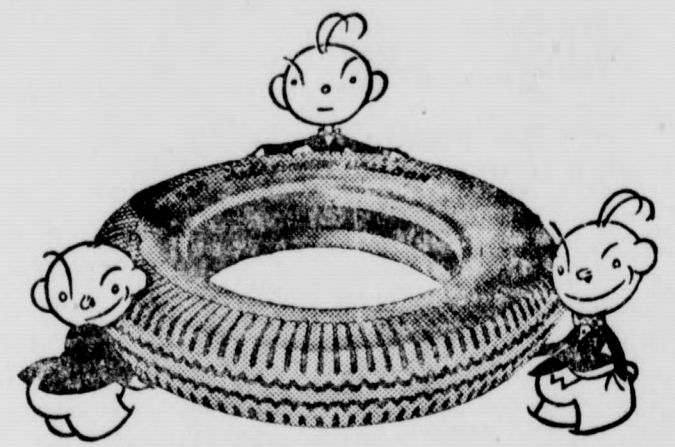

The sermon on the theme "The Empty Tomb" was listened to with the closest of attention and interest, Mr. Gatchell drawing a picture of the garden tomb where it is believed the Christ was buried. Prof. Gatchell of the high school of Centerville, sang a solo, "My Heart is Fixed," which was a real benediction to the large audience.

At the close of the sermon, thirty-five new members were received into fellowship of the church and the people will ever remember the deep impressions made as the large class stood before the elders and pastor and took the solemn vows pledging their loyalty and support to the cause of Christ and the church.

Special music and a program is being arranged for the services next Sunday evening, and the pastor will speak on the theme "The Crying Need of the Hour."

The Ladies of the Guild held their regular noon luncheon of this Wednesday, and a fine time was had and the luncheon was as usual up to and above par.

Despite the heavy rains of Easter morning, a very goodly number came to the services on the hill near the cross, and all felt amply repaid for coming.

Service, Too, With Pathfinders

We've been talking a lot about Pathfinders lately. We've told you why—in our honest opinion—they're the cheapest and safest tire investment you can make at a low price.

Now we'd like to say a brief word about the kind of service you can expect from us with Pathfinders.

We don't just sell you a tire. It's part of our job to help you get every mile of service from Pathfinders that the factory has built into them. We see that they are properly applied, that rims are free from rust, that tires are correctly inflated; and then, after they are in use, we will inspect them at any time and apply conservation methods to prolong their life.

We do all this FREE for our customers. They like it—and appreciate it—because it keeps their tire equipment cost WAY down.

Pathfinders—backed by our service—will reduce your tire cost. Just try them and see.
